A Word in Season. It has been the policy of the Democratic administration for the past five years to keep Kansas out of the Union until, by the employment of all the means in their power, they should be able to bring it in as a Democratic State. There is no doubt but that we should have been received under the Leavenworth Constitution had we elected a Democratic Legislature, thus securing two Senators to that party. Now how shall we convince the administration that its efforts are hopeless? Simply by electing our State officers and Legislature by an overwhelming. majority. If we elect them by a small majority only, it will hold out the hope to our enemies, that if they can succeed in keeping us out now on some quibble or other, they may be able, through the influence of federal patronage and other appliances which in victory—a flag whose stars shall ever Virginia Chivalry come out with an adverthey know so well how to use, to turn the serve as a beacon to the down-trodden and tisement in the Richmond Whig, offering tract much attention. At the last election only half of you voted. Shall this be the case again? Are you going to admit that you are too lazy to vote? Are you going to give our enemies another apparent advantage over us? We will not believe it. We know you are tired of elections, and that is what our enemies want; they want to tire you out if possible, for they are convinced that they can only succeed in conquering you by this means. Vote! Vote! Vote!

The last ballot George Washington ever ast was at an unimportant township election. To a friend who expressed his wonder that he should come out upon such an inclement day to cast his vote, Washington replied : "There cannot be an election under our form of government in which there is not a right and a wrong side, and I consider it the duty of every good citizen to cast his vote upon every occasion, upon the side his conscience tells him to be right." With the precept and example of "the Father of his Country" before him, how can any man neglect to use his high privi-lege, and case his influence and his vote on the side of right at the approaching election. all our voting done? Republicans!

Don't let the Democrats gull you into the belief that this portion or that are going to bolt one or more of your regular Republican county nominees. If you hear such a report, set it down as coming from a Democrat, and the object to divive your votes so as to elect a Democrat instead. Every man on our ticket is a Republican, and should receive the entire support of his party. The pretensions of local feeling and pledges should be alike disregarded.

A Big Meeting up the Cottonwood. There was a rousing Republican turnou at Kirkendall's school-house, in Cotton wood township, last night, which was addressed by E. P.
